THE CRISIS AND FAMINE RELIEF FUND

Within East and Central Africa, it's been warned that as many as 25 million people are in crisis, facing starvation and malnutrition. (World Vision Australia) In Ethiopia, Somalia, South Sudan, Uganda and Kenya there has been tireless drought following the strongest El Nino on record, causing crops to fail, livestock to die and food and water supplies to diminish.

The world's newest county, South Sudan, has been experiencing fierce conflicts causing 3.3 million people to be displaced from their homes and are now in need for emergency supplies. South Sudan is facing the world's third largest refugee crisis after Syria and Afghanistan. (UNHCR 2017). AIM has also been involved in distributing aid to the Central African Republic recently as the country experiences struggles there.

If you would like to give specifically towards the food crisis in East Africa and other parts of Africa then you can through AIM's Crisis and Famine Relief Fund. The donations made to this fund will be sent to our missionaries and partners in country to distribute and provide hunger and crisis relief.

Equipping the African Church

'From everywhere to everywhere'. The African Church; growing, vibrant and confident in the Gospel has tremendous untapped potential to reach this beautiful continent and beyond.

David, a Kenyan pastor with the Africa Inland Church, serving among the nomadic Rendille people recently said, "It was so difficult for me to turn down many other offers to serve in 'greener' pastures, but God has placed in my heart a passion to reach these people with the love of our Master. Nomads won't come to us. We must go to them. The person who wants to reach nomads must to some degree become a nomad himself. That is why God has called me – I was born a nomad."

Africa Inland Mission is privileged to serve alongside national pastors like David. There is a great need to equip African church leaders, preachers and evangelists, just like David, so that they can serve their churches well and be a part of reaching the unreached through Biblical teaching and Christlike discipleship.

THE ADVANCED TRAINING FUND

AIM has set up the 'Advanced Training Fund' to help train and mobilise African Bible teachers and church leaders. This project provides partial scholarships of up to $US1,000 to African Christian workers undertaking advanced or postgraduate training.

AIM and our partner churches have identified these workers as potential leaders. This helps fulfil AIM's Vision2020 of training 4,000 church leaders in the five years to 2020.

Studies are often in the Bible or theological streams. Scholarships are paid direct to the learning institution. Students contribute by raising the balance of funds required.
Your help is urgently needed.
