

Africa Inland Mission in Australia is seeking our next National Director.

After serving for more than 14 years, the current National Director of Africa Inland Mission Ltd in Australia is retiring at the end of the current term. The National Director of Africa Inland Mission in Australia acts as the CEO and reports to the Africa Inland Mission Ltd Australia Council. The National Director is responsible for managing all aspects of the organisation to deliver the organisation's strategic objectives.

Are you interested in becoming the next Director of Africa Inland Mission in Australia and the Asia-Pacific?

You must be a committed servant of Christ. You will be passionate about God's mission of making disciples among all nations, emphasising Africa, and dedicated to mobilising Christians in Australia and the Asia-Pacific to serve the peoples of Africa wherever they make their home. Besides being competent in managing a nationwide, not-for-profit, charitable, Christian organisation, the next National Director will align with our values, have credibility in cross-cultural ministry, and be a leader and display a powerful mixture of personal humility and indomitable will. While they will be incredibly ambitious, their ambition is first and foremost for the cause, the organisation, and its purpose, not themselves. The position will receive a salary funded by a personnel support team and the organisation.

If you are interested, let's start the conversation.

For more information about the role and the person we're looking for, please send an introductory letter about yourself, and your CV to the Council Chair at chair.au@aimint.org

Please include your experience and competencies, a brief statement on what would you bring to this role, and how this aligns with our values. More information about Africa Inland Mission can be found at www.aimint.org/ap.

Expressions of interest close 8 November 2021, and the role is open to permanent residents of Australia.