The Team

Strasbourg is a multi-cultural city in the northwest of France. It's one of the European Union capitals, home to the EU Parliament and the second-largest university in France. In addition to international businessmen, students and politicians, Strasbourg is also home to a vast number of refugees and migrants from around the world. Our summer team will be partnering with a local church-plant in a culturally diverse neighborhood, where migrants, registered asylum-seekers, university students, and long-time locals intersect.

Despite living near each other, cross-cultural movement doesn't seem to happen on a wide scale, with people often staying within their wider cultural group. The local church will be opening a community center as a place where people can mix and meet while working on their French or English, getting homework help, or learning other important skills... and through it all to live out the love and hope of Jesus to every person we meet.

What We'll Be Doing...

- Prayer walks
- Community outreach through family-focused activities and English conversation times at the community center
- Relationship-focus through shared meals and informal time together with local friends in the community, whether refugees, migrants, or international students
- Praying for and trying to find people with whom to share Christ

Budget & Travel

Cost on the ground in Strasbourg is $3500. This covers training, ministry expenses, in country transport as well as room and board. Team members are responsible for arranging their international travel bookings and expenses to and from Strasbourg.
